17000 DEATHS IN CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

But Disease is Dying Out Among Turks-- Medical Authorities Fear Worse Outbreak.

Ottoman Fleet Ready for Battle--130,000 Men in Tchatalja Forts Now.

(By Times Special Cable.)
London, Nov. 28.—The Daily Telegraph's Constantinople correspondent says: "The hospitals have undergone a great improvement. The cholera patients have now been cleared out of Haskenkul, and are now isolated in a special camp, where the victims obtain some attention. The cholera itself shows pronounced signs of diminishing, which fact is due to the cold spell of the last three days."
Nevertheless, it is far from over, and daily claims hundreds of victims. Although the exact figures are now known, it is calculated that 17,000 deaths have resulted from the epidemic. Only 1 per cent. of those attacked have survived. These figures do not include the thousands who have died from dysentery and enteric fever.

"The medical authorities are greatly alarmed, and fear an even worse epidemic in the future. The season altogether is abnormal. The rains are long overdue. If a wet spell comes, two or three days before the snow, the cholera is sure to spread with terrible rapidity. On the other hand, two or three days of snow and frost will wipe it out altogether."
Telegraphing from Constantinople, the correspondent of the Daily News says the British Red Crescent authorities under Col. Suteo, have taken over part of the American cholera hospital at Sefine, which was under the direction of Major Ford. The British Red Cross is well supplied with funds, but is lacking in workers.
AUSTRIANS CONCENTRATE ON DANUBE.

S. F. EGAN DEAD
Was Dry Goods Merchant Here Years Ago.

Many friends in this city will regret to hear of the death of Stephen Francis Egan which occurred on Nov. 27th at Alexian Brothers' hospital, Chicago, as a result of injuries received in a fall. Mr. Egan was born in Hamilton in 1848 and spent the earlier part of his life here, at one time being a member of the dry goods firm of Egan & Bartlett, on James street, just north of the city. Afterwards he moved to Chicago and was for a number of years connected with the H. H. Kohlman Baking Company. He was a member of the British Empire Society.
The deceased is survived by a widow, four daughters, two sons, two sisters and one brother. He was a brother of the late Jas. F. Egan, well known soap singer in St. Mary's Cathedral, who died in the city of Chicago in the railway commission.
The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the residence of the widow, 1015 St. James street, and will be conducted by Rev. J. J. McQuinn.

MR. W. F. NICKLE, M.P. for Kingston, who seconded the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

C. N. R. PLANS DEVELOPING BUT HAMILTON IN DARK

Company Said to Have Big Plans for London, Too--Road to Be Rushed Next Year.

While all sorts of rumors are emanating daily from Toronto concerning the C.N.R., the city officials have not the least idea whether there is an inkling of truth in them or not. City Engineer Maclellan has made several trips to Toronto in an effort to pick up some definite information, but has not been able to secure any news whatever. When the C.N.R. agreed to renew its application before the Railway Commission for entrance into Hamilton via the north end, Mayor Lees and the controllers thought the situation was about clinched, but they forgot that the railway's representatives had not promised to pursue that application, and hence were carried out humiliated when the railway, at the last minute, withdrew its case.
Here is what a morning Toronto's exchange has to say of the C. N. R.'s plans:
"These plans include the running of the Western Ontario line of the transcontinental southwest from Toronto to Hamilton and from that city to London. From London the line goes through the western portion of the Province to the west coast. In 1914, by which time it is predicted the C. N. R. transcontinental will be built right through from Vancouver to Montreal, the date for the completion of this railway's Western Ontario line to London. That the date on which the line is expected by the C. N. R. could open possession of the line to the west coast, and the acquisition of which the Canadian Northern are now conducting arrangements. It is the intention of the C. N. R. to have their line through to Detroit ready for operation at the same time as they take over the I. & N. R. It is also stated that the railway intends to do big things in London. A hotel, costing $250,000, is to be built, it is said, and many other big improvements are to be made to the Forest Town. City Engineer Maclellan and other city officials think, however, that Hamilton has looked after its own interests, and that London is not to be touched. The railway's agents are still busy in Hamilton, and every now and then pick up some piece of property. Yesterday they finally closed the deal for nearly half an acre from the Foster Canadian Co. on Wentworth street north, and also three lots from the same stockyard in the same vicinity. These are close to the proposed main line of the Canadian Northern, and are to be used for switching purposes. The purchase was announced some time ago."

CONTROLLER ALLAN WILL RUN FOR MAYOR

Definitely Announced His Intentions and His Platform.

Reply to Some of the Criticisms Which Have Been Heard.

The mayoralty fight is on, and although there are but two contestants so far—Controllers Bailey and Allan—it promises to be warm and exciting before many weeks. Controller Allan clinched the situation this morning by announcing himself a candidate for Mayor next year, and thus set at rest the fears of some of the civic leaders that Controller Bailey would go into the Mayor's chair by acclamation. Controller Allan also announced the platform upon which he would stand. It is a somewhat large one, and includes a tax rate of 10 mills, better street railway accommodation, good roads, depression of T. H. & R. tracks, electric trolley for all roads, boosting of the Hydro power department and divers other popular crises.
Here is what Controller Allan gave out to-day:
"To the Electors of the City of Hamilton:
"After grave consideration I have decided to come before you for election to the honored position of Mayor of this City. Less than a month ago I had about made up my mind to retire from public life, but I have been approached by so many citizens who have asked me to run for Mayor—one of whom has pointed out that it was a duty I owed the city—that I am satisfied there is a genuine desire that I should be a candidate.
"I am not going to make this a whirlwind campaign. You know my record in the City Council, and if you see fit to support me and I will promise in return to give you the best there is in me. I am elected, I have served you two years as alderman and two years as Controller, and I am quite willing to (Continued on Page 11.)"

Health Hints for Children

Dr. Roberts of the Board of Health would like to warn all school children against the cold drafts and foot-dragging during the next few months. "Some people do not approve of putting on heavy clothes when the cold weather comes," said Mr. M. H. O. this morning. "They have a mistaken idea that it is more healthy to do without extra wearing apparel, if possible. School children, especially, are apt to disregard taking precautions, and neither should see to it that their clothes do not go out in the cold air without being properly wrapped up. Of course it is possible to go to the other extreme and pile on so many extra clothes that circulation is impeded and fresh air entirely excluded from the pores of the skin. For instance, many school-children wear heavy sweaters over their shirts and collars, with a coat on top of this. They sit all day thus in a temperature of 72, maintained in the schools, and then go out in the cold, and their mothers wonder why they contract colds and coughs."
"Try to keep a few obvious principles in mind. When out in the open air wear plenty of good clothing. It is necessary in our cold climate. But when you go to school, it is necessary to wear so that when you go out again it may be of some use to you. In other words complaints are made that the school children wrap up too warmly. In this respect Dr. Roberts says:
"The school children of Hamilton err in the other direction, having a tendency to defy the cold weather. This is very foolish and risky."

DEFENCE'S COSTLY

Hawthorne Trial Will Entail $150,000 Expenditure.

Toronto Witnesses Testifying Before Commission.

(By Times Special Wire.)
Toronto, Nov. 28.—Part of the scene of the trial of the Hawthorne Silver and Gold Mines Limited, which created a sensation in New York's financial world, has been laid in Toronto. Two witnesses, Professor R. Carr-Harris and J. G. McNulty, have been called here before the American Commission. These two engineers are witnesses for the defence. For a whole week they have been plying with questions, and their testimony will amount to some $100,000 and 300,000 words. For every 100 words a fee of 50 cents has to be paid to the American Council, who transmit it to Washington. In comparison fees alone the evidence will cost the defence in the neighborhood of $12,000. When the photographer's fees are added, this sum will be added to $2,000.
But the cost of this evidence will be only a few cents in comparison with the cost of the defence.
"I suppose the defence will cost $50,000 before it is finished," remarked Mr. V. VanDerVort, who is familiar with the case. "I believe the prosecution will cost $100,000-$150,000 altogether."
The examination of witnesses, which took place here, was under a commission, which issued out of the District Court of the Southern District of New York.
The company is said to have based its idea of the value of the properties on a report made by Dr. Robert Bell, R. D. S. (Cambridge), M. D., R. L. D. V. R. S., a member of the Geological Survey of Canada. Dr. Bell will not be available as a witness for the defence at the trial, it is stated, as he is critically ill in the South of France.

CUT YOUR GRASS

Or Come Back Next Summer and Shovel Snow.

Tim Heern is an odd character. He lives in town from Wellington County to-day with his railway ticket, fastened to the lapel of his coat with a safety pin, his clothing caught together with a string, a pencil fastened to his vest, a sleeve of old paper inside his under coat and a varied collection of scraps attached to his topper.
"Just came down to advertise that I will do any sort of work from cutting lawns in winter to shovelling snow in July, but I have no money to pay for the ad. If you like to put it in I'll do something for you. I'm going to bankrupt at three o'clock, but I will be back in a few weeks, and I want work."
Heern has been all over the world, he says, and looks like a man who might be anywhere from sixty to eighty years old.

SHOULD HONOR MRS. FESSENDEN

Controllers Pass Resolution On to the Government.

$300,000 FOR INLET

If the Whole Can Be Obtained By the City.

At the meeting of the Board of Control, held this morning, the following resolution, moved by Controller Allan, and seconded by Controller James, was adopted:
"That the Council recognizes the great work done by Mrs. Fessenden, as originator of Empire Day, and desires to draw the attention of the Dominion Government to the fact that no expression of public satisfaction of Mrs. Fessenden's work has been made, and the board expresses the hope that the Government will give due consideration to the claim of Mrs. Fessenden to public recognition in a tangible way for her valuable services in organizing Imperial sentiment in this country, and empire, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the local members of the Dominion Parliament."

SHOULD RIDE A COW

If All He Says About H. G. & B. Is True.

In Wednesday's edition of the Trinity Independent, James Livingston, the general editor and owner, scores the management of the H. G. & B. for their service through the fruit belt. In past-type the worthy James claims to voice the sentiments of his district, and he states that although the road is doing too much business as it did fifteen years ago, passengers have to be good swimmers to ride on a railway, and must put up with many annoyances. When General Manager Coleman and Manager Hawkins were interviewed in reference to the road this morning, they would have very little to say. Transportation Manager Walter stated that God made all crawling things in the beginning, and that it was quite evident that the worthy editor of the Trinity Independent considered that the H. G. & B. was one of them. Mr. Walter continued that east end residents set their clocks when the cars pass, so regular are they.
There is just one question that he would like to ask of Mr. Livingston: If the railroad is as rotten as it is alleged to be, and if it was the second one to ride about on the prize coat that he won in the Times' circulation contest? The management of the H. G. & B. contend that it would be a more graceful mode of travelling if all the things which were stated in the article are true.

HOUSE TO HOUSE INSPECTION

To Stamp Out the Smallpox Outbreak.

WARNING BY M. H. O.

Street Railway Committee Is Meeting Today.

In a final effort to check the smallpox epidemic among the residents of East Hamilton, especially the foreign element, Dr. Roberts, M. H. O., has decided to make a house-to-house inspection east of Sherman avenue. The doctor announced this morning that he had located the origin of the present epidemic, which started in the east end three or four weeks ago in a family which did not take the trouble to call in a doctor. Three persons had the disease in succession, and it was the second one that came to the notice of the health authorities. The case being a far advanced one, the patient died. At the present time the smallpox roll over at the City Hall has fifteen names on it. Another serious case, being discovered yesterday among the pupils of the Ottawa street school. The spread of the infectious disease among the school children has become so great that Dr. Roberts is taking the matter up with (Continued on Page 11.)

Giving Thanks for Charity

(By Times Special Wire.)

New York, Nov. 28.—The observance of Thanksgiving Day in New York City began at 1 o'clock this morning. At that hour the Bowery Mission's bread line formed for the first time this winter, and the hundreds baskets of food were distributed. Other charitable and philanthropic organizations throughout the city followed suit during the morning hours, and it was estimated that more than 50,000 charity dinners were provided for the poor of the city through the various agencies.

The big hotels made their annual attempt to resurrect, as far as possible, the historic dishes and customs of the day, one Broadway manager purchasing 7,000 pounds of turkey, the largest order of the kind on record.

For the first time in many years, the supply of turkeys exceeded the demand, and prices sagged. The best birds are quoted at five cents a pound, and a large shipment of live southern turkeys went begging at 17 cents.

The day was ushered in here by the first snowfall of the season. The temperature was not low enough, however, to keep the snow from melting into slush when it fell.

BUILD SUBWAY AFTER STAIR NOW

Road at Burlington to Go Under Tracks.

Toronto Theatre Manager Is In the Limelight.

Committed to Trial on Incontinent Picture Charge.

(By Times Special Wire.)

Toronto, Nov. 28.—The star theatre, made famous by Mr. St. Clair's too faithful report of a performance there, was again in the police court to-day, when the manager, F. W. Starr, was committed by Judge Denison for trial at a date yet to be named on a charge of exhibiting in front of the theatre a picture which was indecent, and liable to corrupt public morals. The picture was one of a number in a frame. As the picture could not easily be detached from the frame before they were placed on exhibition, a piece of paper was pasted over this particular one, but the paper was subsequently scraped away, and the attention of the morality department was called to the offensive picture.
Star admitted responsibility for placing the picture in front of the theatre "uncovered." He also entered in defence evidence that the picture was in order catalogues and magazines, advertising feminine underwear, claiming they were also indecent. If the photograph complained of was obscene, the manager retorted that the other magazine pictures were intended for the advertisement of underwear, while the one used by the morality department was supposed to be a reproduction of nature, and consequently could not be considered in the same light.

SEVEN YEARS Ovid Latremouille Gets a Long Term.

In the Assizes Court, which ended yesterday in Toronto, Ovid Latremouille, an ex-champion athlete of the Toronto police force, was sentenced to seven years in Kingston for robbing a liquor store at the point of a revolver. Chief Justice William Mulock, in passing sentence, pronounced Latremouille a dangerous and good fortune that he was not in the dock on a charge of indicted manslaughter. Also indicted easily have been proved that he was prepared to commit murder. Many people in Hamilton will remember Latremouille. He was born here, and for many years lived on Park street north and on York street. In this city he was well known in athletic circles. He was an affable man, and why he should have sought criminal life is a puzzle to all who knew him and his parents, who were worthy and respected citizens.

PLOTS THAT FADED

He will certainly realize that she has discovered him laughing at his scheme over her shoulder.

"What a pity it is that he is so rude as to be so near to his tale," murmured Bab, with suspicious tears in her blue eyes.

"That is the very opinion he has of himself—that all girls think him nice, in fact, charming, and that all he has to do is to give them a tender look, a few smiles, and they are ready to fling themselves at his feet, desperately in love with him and his handsome face and fascinating ways."

"He—he made the mistake of his life if he thought he could make me fall in love with him," declared Bab, "and I shall take uttermost pains to let him see that I hate him."

But even as she uttered these words her red lips quivered, for she had just dimly noticed that he was looking at her so easily to make handsome Clarence Neville as she was trying to make out to India.

"You must not think, dear, that all young men are two-faced and deceitful because you find them so," said Bab, "India, throwing her arms as a prelude on what she was about to say, as she always, crossed the one first when she was about to wound to the heart."

"Oh, you India," cried Bab, "just as if you know any more about young men and their ways than I do."

"If India had not been standing with her back to the lamp, she would have seen that her throat was brought around to her, and the gleam in the face, changing now would not have been pleasant to behold."

Without noticing Bab's remark, she whispered, laughingly, into her pink ear:

"What would you like to learn a little secret, Bab, dear?"

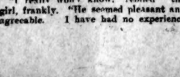

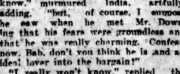

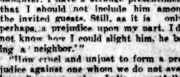

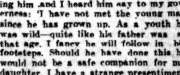

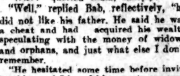

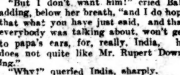

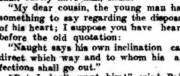

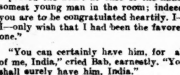

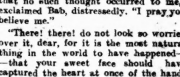

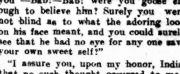

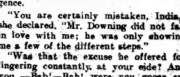

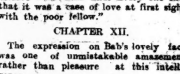

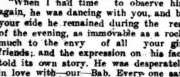

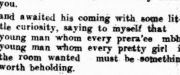

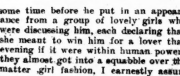

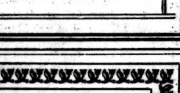

"Some one has fallen in love with you, and—perhaps perhaps! a case of mutual love at first sight, as the store told us, you are not, are you?"

"I wish you were not so inquisitive, as to attract me, for instance, another little girl that I know of."

"What in the world are you driving at, India? I don't understand what they are trying to tell me about love. I did not see anything of that kind."

"Oh, wretched little Bab," laughed India, laughing. "Don't try to be so innocent about it, you accuse me, indeed you do."

"If I do, I am innocent of any attempt to do so," declared Bab, seriously, "now, India, this very coaxing 'do tell me, I'm just dying to hear about it.'" with young men as lovers, or as friends, either of that matter, you know."

"We must judge, then, by what every other girl in the room thought of him, murmured India, and with a deep sigh, she went on: "You are, indeed, to be envied, for you have found the wonderful secret for yourself, dear. I am afraid you are cold and shy with men now, knowing it, and I would not have that happen for the world's shame. I shall myself for being the cause of it. Promise me that you will treat him as severely and harshly as you did last night, and that will relieve my mind greatly."

"It is a comfort to you, I promise," returned Bab, sleepily, "but you need not."

"A sentence never was finished; the words trailed off into a long sigh; the girl's lips even in her dreamy slumber, and in that mystical hour she heard the voice of Mrs. Mack, the old housekeeper, murmuring over again:

"Baby, dear, the conviction haunts me that you must meet your fate on your birthday party. It is most likely to be with whom you first danced, and her first partner was handsome Clarence Neville, the very man who has been so kind to me."

WOMEN'S WAY

Mistress Peppy's Diary

25—Up betimes and to market, where was such a goodly array of "Eats," as food is called in this strange country. That I mightily fear me, my greenhorns did run away with my purse. But never had I had such delight in buying for the table, for the shops feast the eye, as well as provide satisfaction for the inner man.

First must I stop at great boxes of grapes, purple and pink and translucent green, whose goodness does seem burst from their skins. And so I was pleased on my gold and white platter, and straightway I ordered some to my basket, and was mightily amazed at the four heaping pounds that did cost me but a dime.

Then, some little pearls of a dark purple pink attracted, upon inquiry, I found to be fresh prunes, the like of which I had never heard of. And so these to my basket. They have a goodly taste, like a pleasant peach, and a chastened plum. Methinks my husband will of them eat heartily.

Then was I much amazed to see red, luscious strawberries, of which we have none in London nor for six-months more. And by the side of these were great juicy blackberries and velvet raspberries, looking like the real thing. I scarce believe all that my eyes did see of fruit—golden pears and red apples with big yellow grapes and oranges and green melons and purple figs, and every known fruit it has pleased God to make the year round, all here on one, so bounteous in this country. And all displayed so temptingly.

CHILD SLAVERY IN N. Y. STATE

18-Hour Day For Babies in the Canneries

"HUMAN MACHINES"

Punished By Parents For Falling Asleep

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Conditions under which children work in certain canneries of the State, as observed by a college woman employed as a special investigator, featured yesterday's session of the State Factory Investigating Commission in its consideration of the proposed legislation designed to improve labor conditions in the canning industry.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Chamberlain, a member of the class of 1909 of Vassar College, who had gotten work in several canneries, said that children from four years up had been employed in "chilling beans, cutting corn or sorting peas and beans, and that during the busy season the youngsters worked regularly from four a.m. until ten p.m., and sometimes until midnight." She said that the spectacle of these little human machines, some of them with their fingers wrapped in bandages, the result of having them split in their work, was as sad as it was shocking.

"The people of the State would indeed be appalled," she continued, "if they were to see these children on cool mornings, shivering in blankets at work, and then, some of the little ones would fall asleep, others would cry and want to stop work, but I have seen them whipped by their parents and compelled to stay at their tasks."

Miss Chamberlain said: "These parents were not Americans, the American mothers being more concerned with their children's education." She related how one little fellow told her he had been pulled out of bed at three o'clock in the morning after having been sent to bed the night before. "The boy earned $1.40 for working from four a.m. until seven p.m.," she said.

Miss Chamberlain continued, "The next morning he generally declared, 'Honest, Miss Chamberlain, I didn't seem as if I was in bed a minute.'"

SUDDEN INSANITY

Porcupine Miner's Seizure Ends in Bloodshed

North Porcupine, Nov. 27.—A French Canadian suddenly went crazy in the home bunk-house this afternoon and attacked two American miners with a knife and an iron bar. They were lying quietly in their bunks when he drew a knife and slashed one man in the face and struck another savagely with an iron bar. Both men are severely hurt, but not seriously injured. The Frenchman was arrested by the Provincial Police and will be medically examined. All three men had come back a few days ago at the Dome, and are unknown, except by number.

Financial and Other Obstacles Are in the Way ---Team Play Has Not Been Perfected.

Calgary, Nov. 28.—Regina will not make a bid for the Dominion championship this year. The people of the Saskatchewan capital will remain satisfied with the championship of Western Canada, which they won at Winnipeg, two to say that if money had been solicited outside of Regina to help send the boys of that city to the east to try for Dominion honors a liberal offering would have been made. Because many people in the west felt that no better representation of the real sporting spirit could be found anywhere.

to DeBruyn. The ball hit the "Red" Harper grabbed it and threw it for a touch. The "Red" Harper, and at this period of the game looked as though the visitors would even be able to furnish useful service for the garnet and gray. However, they tightened up considerably then, and until the final quarter kept the "Red" Harper from doing anything but keeping right along to hold their end.

Though considerably better than Thursday last, the field was not in the best of condition. The footing was fair to good, but the going was slow. The temperature was ideal for Rugby, and the players all came through the game in good shape. Harper and Leckie were injured, but got off the field; and neither one was seriously hurt, and neither will be in the game on Saturday against the Argos.

The Championship form was not displayed.

Officials for Saturday

pledged to the team here to enable it to back up a challenge to the champion team of the east. As it is, Regina will have to bear the western standard, and next year, with its present team intact, with lots of money in the club treasury as the result of the good crops and increased activity in the real estate market, the prairie city, or as the Regina fans say very aptly, "the cyclone city" should create quite a breeze in whatever town Dame Fortune decides to raise the football pennant of 1912.

ing games that has been seen in the junior series for some time. It until the final whistle blew was a game decided and it was by some following up that they succeeded in pulling off a win. The game was of the clean variety, only a few penalties being handed out by the officials during the hour of play. W. Maraden, of Toronto, handled the defence and didn't give satisfaction to either side. He also got a warm reception from the small crowd that witnessed the game. Mr. Maraden is a handed junior game before this year, that the Alerts have participated in, but has never been seen in the show room. The Alerts did not show up as well as they have to over for another point—7-1. Carter tried to buck on in the first and was stopped in yards. In the second, Sheridan stole the ball, and went for a touchdown, which was not scored. Alerts 9, Central 7. Alerts 9 gave the Alerts some courage, and went into the game to run up a score, but their hopes were dashed when the half-time whistle blew. Alerts in possession, five yards out. On the next play, Alerts came up to time, and the Alert fans were a nervous. Carter kicked off to centre, who ran it back to centre for yards. On the first down McKelvey around the end for 30 yards, sent the ball in the tackle. Duke and Reid dropped the ball, Carter spring. On the next play, Duke led to the dead line for a point. Alerts tried a series of bucks and ended in going for yards, but lost

So if Mr. Ritter's remarks may be taken seriously, and there is no reason why it should be so regarded, the eastern critics should have the opportunity to see how well the game has flourished on the grasslands of the west.

Regina's winning of the western championship was a popular victory this side of the Atlantic, and an excellent illustration of the fact that the American people are particularly strong in those two departments, due largely to the training of the American youth in the game.

Everett Smith played brilliantly throughout most of the game, but his fortune followed him again, and his guilt of a bad bit of play, which left his team a touchdown in the first half, came back to haunt him. He missed a long pass on his own goal line, and he missed a long pass on the line, where it was grabbed by Alert wing.

Alert Juniors Defeated Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. at Oakville Yesterday.

The Mail and Empire says: Members of the Toronto Rugby Club donned their blue and white uniforms yesterday, trotted out on to the cricket grounds at Hamilton, and played a fast, clean, consistent game in a field of mud with their old rivals for the senior O.R.F.U. championship, then as darkness closed in, changed the field and packed away their uniforms till next year. The Toronto lot fairer, the Alverton lot fairer. True, some will blame Ewer Smith for part of the defeat, but accidents will happen, and had not a sudden gust of wind caught the ball and carried it against the goalpost Reg Dwyer, to whom the ball was passed, would have been able to secure it at the goal. Instead, of Harper's kicking on for the first try of the game, Ewer Smith howled indignation; but the game was good and took place. With this one exception Toronto played head rugby, and the fact that it scored three points in the last quarter showed that till the final whistle

Miss Sullivan was a native of Massachusetts. She was a woman of marked business ability. For years she conducted an employment bureau in Chicago and made a small fortune, it is said.

Miss Spaulding was prostrated when told of her chum's death. She said that Sullivan's health had made her dependent.

Wagner just where it was. He was a League in a game and he played his part. Either he was charged was true or untrue, and the fact that he quit his job had nothing to do with the principle involved.

With Wolgast going from 10 to 7 to 2 to 1 and still growing, we don't know whether it is fixed for the suckers or the speculators.

Hans Wagner has hit 500 or better for sixteen straight years, which ought to prove, even to a scout, that he is a pretty fair ball player.

He kicked to McElvrey, who ran back 30 yards, and on the first down Duke kicked over for a point; 5-2.

Duke kicked to Reid, who fumbled on the first down Duke kicked over for a point; 6-2.

Reid received the kick and returned it back behind the line, who ran it out 10 yards. On the first down Alerts took the ball for off-side, and Duke kicked over the line just as the quarter hour blew; 7-2.

Alerts started to kick with the wind, soon got the ball near goal. On a series of backs they succeeded to get within five yards, of goal, but lost the interference. Duke kicked over the line for a point; 8-2.

MARKETS AND FINANCE

Thursday, Nov. 27.—Fine weather brought out a large number of people to the largest for some weeks. Stuff was very plentiful and sold briskly. Potatoes took another jump in price, selling at $11.5 a bushel. The farmers had little trouble in disposing of the surplus at the price asked, and many potatoes were left to rot in the fields.

In the meat market poultry took a big drop. Turkeys selling for 20 cents a pound, while others asked as high as 25 cents. The birds were very plentiful, but did not sell rapidly, despite the low price. Chickens and ducks also took a drop. The latter sold for $17.5 a pair. This is the lowest that has been asked for some time, and they were eagerly picked up.

MONEY IN DEMAND; DISCOUNT FIRMER

(By Times Special Cable.)
London, Nov. 26.—Money was in demand today in Europe, in consequence of the requirements at the end of the month. Discount rates were firmer on account of the purchases of gold for export.

The gold exchange developed all round cheerfulness, and a general improvement occurred in local and continental buying. The European situation was regarded in financial circles as much brighter than it had been, while the satisfactory conclusion of the settlement helped the tone. A few speculators, however, closed before their best points.

American securities were quiet and steady. The market opened partly, and later advanced, under the lead of the United States Treasury, from 100 to 101 points higher.
